Mobile Productivity:

No longer are you tied to your desk when you access vital information, Salesboom has developed an Offline Edition for the mobile users. You have full access to your data where and whenever you need it. Whether you are in an airport, a hotel with no internet connection or in the comfort of your own home, Offline Edition keeps the data you need at your finger tips.

How it Works:

People ask how this works. It works by storing the exact information you see within your on-demand platform locally on your desktop computer. This information is synchronized with your Salesboom records once an Internet connection is established, ensuring you will always work with the most up to date information. With smart tools, Salesboom not only synchronizes your records but also assists in making sure the data is updated correctly with no duplication or overwriting of crucial records within the Online Salesboom platform.

Gone are the days of needing stick-it notes, excel spreadsheets or a mess of other less productive programs. Fire up your laptop, log on to Salesboom Online, and enter information just as if you were in the office yourself. It is as simple as that.

A lot of clients use Offline Edition as a fail safe. If your office internet goes down you will not be left in the dark like with other CRM Software vendors. Business can continue to operate effectively until the connection is restored. Just another reason why you should get started today.

How it Functions:

Salesboom Offline functions the same as our Online Edition, all that is required is a Browser (Internet Explorer 6.0 or higher). Salesboom created the same look and feel that users are familiar with making the Offline edition a breeze to use.

With a very light weight install, users have access to the Offline Edition in minutes and there are no configurations or servers to install. Even users novice to computers will have no trouble getting started using the Offline Edition.

Salesboom has created a patent synchronization tool that utilizes our API. All data changes and information updates are made easily.

Offline Edition comes with your entire security and administration settings that have been set in the online edition. Organizations can feel safe that the data is secure and that users can only access information they are granted permission to.

Salesboom's Offline Edition has the same user friendly and intuitive interface that our customers love.
